This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at `http://books.google.com/`

Medical Lectures.

The Lectures commence, annually, on the third Wednesday in November, and continue for thirteen weeks.

FEES

For the several courses, and the order in which they are delivered.

Theory and Practice of Physic, by Dr. Jackson, at 9 A. M. - $15
Chemistry, by Dr. Gorham, at 10 A. M. - - - - - - - - - 15
Materia Medica, by Dr. Bigelow, and Midwifery and Medical Jurisprudence, by Dr. Channing, alternately, at 11 A. M. each 10
Anatomy and Surgery, by Dr. Warren, at 12 A. M. - - - - 20

☞ Any gentleman, after paying the fees for two courses of lectures of any Professor, is entitled to a perpetual ticket for the Lectures of that Professor.

The students are admitted to see the medical and surgical practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital during the period of the medical lectures, upon paying twenty dollars each for a ticket of admission and one dollar each to defray expenses.

Clinical lectures are delivered by Dr. Jackson on the medical cases, to those, who take tickets of admission to the Hospital: and remarks on the surgical cases there, accompany the lectures of Anatomy and Surgery.

Students may see the practice in the hospital at other seasons of the year upon terms, which will be made known by applying to the physician or surgeon.

APPENDIX.

OF ADMISSION TO HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

To be received into the Freshman Class, the candidate must be thoroughly acquainted with the Grammar of the Latin and Greek languages, including Prosody; be able properly to construe and parse any portion of the following books, namely, Jacobs' Greek Reader, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Virgil, Sallust, and Cicero's Select Orations, and to translate English into Latin correctly. He must be well versed in Ancient and Modern Geography; the fundamental rules of Arithmetick; vulgar and decimal fractions; proportion, simple and compound; single and double fellowship; alligation, medial and alternate; and Algebra to the end of simple equations, comprehending also the doctrine of roots and powers, and arithmetical and geometrical progression.

The other books used in the examination are the following, namely, Adam's Latin Grammar (Gould's edition is preferred); the Gloucester Greek Grammar (Buttmann's Greek Grammar, and the Abridgment of it, are allowed); Lacroix's Arithmetick, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the Friday next after Commencement. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined at the beginning of the First Term. If any one be admitted after the first week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He must also pay into the Treasury one hundred dollars for each year's advancement, and ratably for a less time; provided that the Faculty may reduce this charge to sixty dollars, in favour of meritorious beneficiaries, upon application. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided, that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence and good conduct.

Graduates of any public college or university are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Persons qualified, by the rules of the courts in any of the United States, to become Students of Law, may be received into the Law School, for a period not less than one term. Application to be made to the University Professor of Law.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures, at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday of November.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of his moral character.

Commencement is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three Terms and three Vacations:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second, of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

APPENDIX.

OF ADMISSION TO HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

To be received into the Freshman Class, the candidate must be thoroughly acquainted with the Grammar of the Latin and Greek languages, including Prosody; be able properly to construe and parse any portion of the following books, namely, Jacobs' Greek Reader, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Virgil, Sallust, and Cicero's Select Orations, and to translate English into Latin correctly. He must be well versed in Ancient and Modern Geography; the fundamental rules of Arithmetick; vulgar and decimal fractions; proportion, simple and compound; single and double fellowship; alligation, medial and alternate; and Algebra to the end of simple equations, comprehending also the doctrine of roots and powers, and arithmetical and geometrical progression.

The other books used in the examination are the following, namely, Adam's Latin Grammar (Gould's edition is preferred); the Gloucester Greek Grammar (Buttmann's Greek Grammar, and the Abridgment of it, are allowed); Lacroix's Arithmetick, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the Friday next after Commencement. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined in the second week of the First Term. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He must also pay into the Treasury one hundred dollars for each year's advancement, and ratably for a less time; provided that the Faculty may reduce this charge to sixty dollars, in favour of meritorious beneficiaries, upon application. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided, that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence and good conduct.

Graduates of any public college or university are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Persons qualified, by the rules of the courts in any of the United States, to become Students of Law, may be received into the Law School, for a period not less than one term. Application to be made to the University Professor of Law.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures, at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday of November.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of his moral character.

Commencement is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three Terms and three Vacations:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second, of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

The University is open to persons who are not condidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public college or university are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Persons qualified by the rules of the courts in any of the United States, to become Students of Law, may be received into the Law School, for a period not less than one term. Application to be made to the University Professor of Law.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday of November.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of his moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second, of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second and last Tuesday of the third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

The regular Gymnastick exercises, when the Superintendent of the Gymnasium is present, are on Wednesday and Friday, from 12 to 1 o'clock; or when the length of the day admits, after evening Commons. On Monday, the Monitors and Vice Monitors meet separately with the Superintendent, to prepare for the general exercises.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoon of Exhibition day.

OF ADMISSION.

To be received into the Freshman Class, the candidate must be thoroughly acquainted with the Grammar of the Latin and Greek languages, including Prosody; be able properly to construe and parse any portion of the following books, namely, Jacobs's Greek Reader, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Virgil, Sallust, and Cicero's Select Orations, and to translate English into Latin correctly. He must be well versed in Ancient and Modern Geography; the fundamental rules of Arithmetic; vulgar and decimal fractions; proportion, simple and compound; single and double fellowship; alligation, medial and alternate; and Algebra, to the end of simple equations, comprehending also the doctrine of roots and powers, and arithmetical and geometrical progression.

The other books used in the examination are the following, namely, Adam's Latin Grammar (Gould's edition is preferred); the Gloucester Greek Grammar (Buttmann's Greek Grammar, and the Abridgment of it are allowed); Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the Monday of Commencement week. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of said week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He must also pay into the Treasury a sum equal to the charge made for instruction upon those of the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public college or university are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Persons qualified by the rules of the courts in any of the United States to become Students of Law, may be received into the Law School, for a period not less than one term. Application to be made to the University Professor of Law.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday of October.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of his moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second, of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second and last Tuesday of the third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoons of Exhibition days.

OF ADMISSION.

To be received into the Freshman Class, the candidate must be thoroughly acquainted with the Grammar of the Latin and Greek languages, including Prosody; be able properly to construe and parse any portion of the following books, namely, Jacobs' Greek Reader, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Virgil, Sallust, and Cicero's Select Orations, and to translate English into Latin correctly. He must be well versed in Ancient and Modern Geography; the fundamental rules of Arithmetic; vulgar and decimal fractions; proportion, simple and compound; single and double fellowship; alligation, medial and alternate; and Algebra, to the end of simple equations, comprehending also the doctrine of roots and powers, and arithmetical and geometrical progression.

The other books used in the examination are the following, namely, Adam's Latin Grammar (Gould's edition is preferred); the Gloucester Greek Grammar (Buttmann's Greek Grammar, and the Abridgment of it are allowed); Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the Monday of Commencement week. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of said week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He must also pay into the Treasury a sum equal to the charge made for instruction upon those of the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public college or university, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS :—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second, of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoons of Exhibition days.

The LAW INSTITUTION of this Seminary is now opened for the reception of students. Its design is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the United States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life, or for commercial business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the common law, admiralty, maritime, and equity law, will be taught with occasional illustrations of foreign law.

The immediate superintendence and direction of the School will be by Mr Ashmun, Royall Professor of Law in the University, who will occasionally deliver lectures, and make examinations of the students. Mr Justice Story, Dane Professor of Law in the University, will reside in Cambridge, and during the intervals of his judicial duties will also assist in the superintendence of the School. He will deliver lectures upon all the branches of law belonging to his Professorship, viz. upon the Law of Nature and Nations, and upon Maritime, Commercial, Equity, and Constitutional Law.

There will be three vacations in the year, which will begin and end at the same time as those of the undergraduates.

Students of the Law School will be provided, if practicable, with rooms in the College buildings, upon the same terms as undergraduates; and may, if they choose, board in commons, the price of which is $1 75 per week. The fees for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students will have the use of lecture rooms, a library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectures of the University, gratis; and the opportunity of instruction in modern languages, on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studied. Gentlemen who are graduates of a college will complete their education in three years; those who are not graduates will complete it in five years. But instruction will be given for stated periods, as may suit the convenience of students.

Constant residence in Cambridge will not be deemed indispensable for the law students; it will be sufficient if they give their attendance at the regular hours prescribed for lectures and examinations and study.

No previous examination is necessary for admission to the School. But every student will be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good character, and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds will be required for the payment of all dues to the college.

OF ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacobs's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody (Buttmann's Greek Grammar is also received); writing Latin; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will always be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury a sum equal to the charge made for instruction upon those of the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Secretary of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April, and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoons of Exhibition days.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL.

Instruction is given by the Professor of Divinity in Natural Religion and Christian Theology.

——————— by the Professor of Hebrew, &c. in the Hebrew Language, Jewish Antiquities, and the Criticism and Interpretation of the Old Testament.

——————— by the Professor of Sacred Literature, on the Criticism and Interpretation of the New Testament.

——————— by the Professor of the German Language and Literature, in the German Language and Literature.

——————— by the Professor of Pastoral Care and Pulpit Oratory, in the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and in the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

A religious service, with preaching, in which one of the Students officiates, takes place twice a week, and is attended by the Professors and all the members of the school. Also once a week there is an exercise in extemporaneous preaching, in the presence of one of the Professors, by the Students of the two upper classes in rotation. The Students begin to take their turn in performing these exercises with the first term of the middle year.

The school meets once a week for discussing some subject previously proposed.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the United States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life or for commercial business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the common law, and admiralty, maritime, and equity law, are taught, with occasional illustrations of foreign law.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Ashmun, Royall Professor of Law in the University, who will occasionally deliver lectures and make examinations of the students. Mr. Justice Story, Dane Professor of Law in the University, resides in Cambridge, and during the intervals of his judicial duties will assist in the superintendence of the School. He will deliver lectures upon all the branches of law belonging to his Professorship, viz. upon the Law of Nature and Nations, and upon Maritime, Commercial, Equity, and Constitutional Law.

There will be three terms and three vacations in the year, corresponding with those of the undergraduates.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms in the college buildings upon the same terms as undergraduates, and may, if they choose, board in commons as resident graduates, at the rate of $1,75 per week. The fees for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students have the use of lecture rooms, the Library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectures of the University gratis; with the opportunity of instruction in the modern languages on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studied. Gentlemen, who are graduates of a College, will complete their education in three years; those who are not graduates, in five years. Instruction, however, will be given for stated periods, as may suit the convenience of students, but without subdividing any of the terms.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student will be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good character, and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds will be required for the payment of all dues to the College.

Constant residence in Cambridge will not be deemed indispensable; it will be sufficient if attendance is given at the regular hours prescribed for lectures, examinations, and study.

The students have the use of an extensive Law Library, and access to the Library of the University, containing about thirty thousand volumes. They are furnished with all the books used as class books, except where they prefer to supply themselves, as they frequently will for the purpose of making references and notes, with a view to future study and practice.

In addition to the course of reading, the students occasionally write dissertations upon subjects connected with it; and every week a moot court is held, at which, in rotation, they argue questions of law. They have also a debating club for miscellaneous discussions and improvement in extempore elocution.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I.—The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II.—Students of medicine, designing to attend the medical lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the faculty of medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the faculty of medicine.

III.—There shall be four meetings holden in this University annually, by the faculty of medicine, for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of doctor of medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private examinations, and shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston; and two of them shall be for public examinations, and shall be holden in some one of the halls of the University in Cambridge. Three members of the faculty at least shall be present at every examination. The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day, next succeeding that on which the winter courses of medical lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock A. M. In extraordinary cases the faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods. The meetings for public examinations shall be holden on such days as the President may appoint, provided that the same shall take place within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively. All the meetings described in this statute may be continued by adjournment. The meetings for the public examinations shall be open to the Governors and Instructors of the University, to the fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may choose to attend them.

IV.—Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions, before being admitted to private examinations, viz:

1. They shall have attended two courses of the lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors.

2. They shall have employed three years in their professional studies, under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

3. Those, who have not received an University education, shall satisfy the faculty of medicine in respect to their knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

4. Every candidate, intending to offer himself for private examination shall, four weeks previously, give notice of his intention to the Dean of the faculty, and shall at the same time deliver, or transmit, to the Dean a dissertation, written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine. Every dissertation shall be submitted, by the Dean, to the examination of the faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

V.—At the meetings for private examinations, the faculty shall examine all those candidates, who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the fourth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the faculty in respect to each, shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the faculty, present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

VI.—Those candidates, who have been approved according to the fifth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination, next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate, so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the faculty. At the close of each public examination, the faculty shall decide, in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the faculty in respect to all those candidates, whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus. The candidates will learn the decisions in respect to them by application to the President.

VII.—Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge, at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of doctor of medicine.

At a meeting of the Faculty of Medicine of Harvard University, August 15, 1821,

Voted, That hereafter, the dissertations of candidates for examination in winter, shall be delivered on or before the first day of December; and that the dissertations of candidates for examination in summer, shall be delivered on or before the first day of July; and that no excuse will be received for a delay in the delivery of dissertations after the days appointed in the fourth section of the fourth statute.

NOTE.—The lectures for medical students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston, and commence annually on the third Wednesday in October. They continue three months. During the lectures, the students may find in the city various opportunities for practical instruction.

The Hollis Professor of natural philosophy will admit medical students to attend the lectures on natural and experimental philosophy. The lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, during the first and third terms. In order to their admission, such students must produce, to the Professor above mentioned, a certificate of their matriculation from the Dean of the faculty of medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University that they have paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same lectures, with the approbation of the President, and on producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars. Application to be made in writing to the College Registrar.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the College Treasurer. The fee is twenty dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; fifteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor; and ten dollars for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts.

The Anatomical department has a museum esteemed the richest of the country in preparations both healthful and morbid, and is of great value in teaching and illustrating the principles of surgical anatomy. The means of teaching and studying practical anatomy are abundant, and every facility is offered to enable the student to prosecute this most important portion of his study.

The Midwifery department contains models from Florence to illustrate the practice, and to teach the anatomy of this branch of medicine. Besides these it is well supplied with plates, and preparations, to aid its study.

BOYLSTON MEDICAL LIBRARY.

REGULATIONS.—Art. 6. The persons entitled to the loan of books, shall be all such members of the Massachusetts Medical Society as reside in the towns of Cambridge, Boston, Roxbury, and Charlestown, or within ten miles of the College.

Art. 7. The Students in Medicine shall have access to the Library during the continuance of the course of medical lectures annually delivered, for the purpose of taking out one volume only at a time.

Art. 10. No fee or emolument whatever, beside the stated provision, which may be made by the Corporation, shall accrue to the Librarian, or any other person, from the individuals to whom books shall be loaned, or from the visitors of the Museum.

Art. 13. From the time of the annual visitation to the commencement of the medical lectures, all books shall be retained in the Library for the special use of the medical institution; and no books shall be loaned to any person, excepting to such students as are attendant on those lectures, until the close of the course.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Law, Medical, and Public.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, 1500. They consist of valuable select works, principally in Modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Law Library is in the Second College House. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 2500. It contains some of the most valuable works in English Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and America.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Besides these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Public, or College Library, is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is 30,500. Of these, 2500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it. Of these, likewise, are about 300 select volumes, which have been received during the last year from London. Among the latter are the Irish and Edinburgh Transactions, complete; Mémoires de l'Acad. de Petersburg, do. Berlin, several volumes; Old English Poets; Hansard's Parliamentary Debates, and the Gentleman's Magazine, complete; Œuvres de Rousseau, Prévost, Voltaire, Laplace, Lacroix, Delambre, D'Alembert, etc.; Werke der Schiller, Jean Paul, Wieland, Luther, etc.; Biographie Universelle; Spallanzani, etc., etc.

The total number of books in the University Library are, then, as follows :

Theological Library	- - - -	1,500
Law do.	- - - -	2,500
Medical do.	- - -	about 1,000
Public do.	- - - -	30,500
Total	- - -	35,500

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows :

Instruction, Library, Lecture Rooms, Steward's Department,
Rent and Care of Room - - - -	90 00
Board for 42 weeks at $1,75 per week - - -	73 50
Text Books - - - - - -	12 50
Special Repairs, &c. - - - -	about 3 00
	$179 00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood ready for use is delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, for about $7,50 per cord. Wood unsawed, &c. can be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. That of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $40 per annum. Board in town, from $1,75 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron, to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term ; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

OF ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacob's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody, (Buttmann's Greek Grammar is also received); writing Latin; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will always be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury a sum equal to the charge made for instruction upon those of the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS: — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third, of six weeks, next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoons of Exhibition days.

examination, the faculty shall decide, in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the faculty in respect to all those candidates, whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus. The candidates will learn the decisions in respect to them by application to the President.

VII. — Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge, at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

At a meeting of the Faculty of Medicine of Harvard University, August 15, 1821,

Voted, That hereafter, the dissertations of candidates for examination in winter, shall be delivered on or before the first day of December; and that the dissertations of candidates for examination in summer, shall be delivered on or before the first day of July; and that no excuse will be received for a delay in the delivery of dissertations after the days appointed in the fourth section of the fourth statute.

NOTE. — The lectures for medical students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston, and commence annually on the third Wednesday in October. They continue four months. During the lectures, the students may find in the city various opportunities for practical instruction.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit medical students to attend the lectures on natural and experimental philosophy. The lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, during the first and third terms. In order to their admission such students must produce, to the Professor above mentioned, a certificate of their matriculation from the Dean of the faculty of medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University that they have paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same lectures, with the approbation of the President, and on producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars. Application to be made in writing to the President.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the College Treasurer. The fee is twenty dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; fifteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor; and ten dollars for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts.

The Anatomical department has a museum esteemed the richest in the country in preparations both healthful and morbid, and is of great value in teaching and illustrating the principles of surgical anatomy. The means of teaching and studying practical anatomy are abundant, and every facility is offered to enable the student to prosecute this most important portion of his study.

The Midwifery department contains models from Florence, to illustrate the practice, and to teach the anatomy of this branch of medicine. Besides these it is well supplied with plates and preparations, to aid its study.

The Chemical department is well furnished with the apparatus required for illustration in the lectures and experimental research, and great additions are continually making. Much of the apparatus is constructed on a large scale, and the alterations which have been made in the laboratory allow the most important processes to be conducted within the view of the pupils.

The chemical lectures to the undergraduates commence at Cambridge immediately on the close of the Medical course, and in addition to the apparatus belonging to the University, much of that belonging to the Professor is removed from Boston.

These lectures are followed by those on Mineralogy and Geology, which are given in the cabinet of Mineralogy during the summer. The collection of minerals, as regards completeness and utility, is equal to any in the country. The suite of ores is peculiarly rich, as is likewise the volcanic department; and the gems and precious stones are numerous. The specimens are arranged in one spacious hall 45½ feet in length, 36 feet wide, and 17 high; they are placed in glazed cabinets against the walls of the room to the height of ten feet. A large proportion of the most beautiful specimens are arranged upon eight glazed tables, and the residue in nearly 200 drawers.

Several cases are filled with complete suites of models of crystals, and others with recent and fossil shells. The collection of organic remains has been lately enriched by a complete British series; and the French fossils are numerous.

The collection is accessible to students desirous of prosecuting the science at other times than during the lectures.

BOYLSTON MEDICAL LIBRARY.

Regulations. — Art. 6. The persons entitled to the loan of books, shall be all such members of the Massachusetts Medical Society as reside in the towns of Cambridge, Boston, Roxbury, and Charlestown, or within ten miles of the College.

Art. 7. The Students in Medicine shall have access to the Library during the continuance of the course of medical lectures annually delivered, for the purpose of taking out one volume only at a time.

Art. 10. No fee or emolument whatever, beside the stated provision, which may be made by the Corporation, shall accrue to the Librarian, or any other persson, from the individuals to whom books shall be loaned, or from the visitors of the Museum.

Art. 13. From the time of the annual visitation to the commencement of the medical lectures, all books shall be retained in the Library for the special use of the medical institution; and no books shall be loaned to any person, excepting to such students as are attendant on those lectures, until the close of the course.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into three departments, viz. Law, Medical, and Public.

The Law Library is in the Second College House. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3000. It contains some of the most valuable works in English Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and America.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the mentary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Besides these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Public, or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is more than 33,000. Of these, 2500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Law Library - - - - - -	3,000
Medical do. - - - - -	about 1,000
Public do. - - - - - -	33,000
Total - - -	37,000

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture Rooms, Steward's Department,

Rent and Care of Room - - - - -	90 00
Board for 42 weeks at $1,75 per week - - -	73·50
Text-Books - - - - - -	12·50
Special Repairs, &c. - - - - about	3·00
	$179 00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood ready for use is delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7·50 per cord. Wood unsawed, &c. can be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. That of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in town, from $1,75 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron, to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacob's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody, (Buttmann's Greek Grammar is also received); writing Latin; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will always be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury a sum equal to the charge made for instruction upon those of the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the standing, for which, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS: — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoon of Exhibition days.

Lectures are delivered, in the course of the year, on French, Spanish, German, and English Literature.

The Hebrew Language is taught to those who desire to learn it.

Declamations, at times found convenient.

The Sophomores present Themes once a fortnight, — half the class each week.

The Juniors and Seniors present Themes once a fortnight.

The Juniors and Seniors likewise read Forensics once in four weeks, — half the class each fortnight.

At convenient times, the several Studies are reviewed, and the Students examined.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar, and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not bachelors of arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacob's Greek Reader, and the extracts from the Historians and Orators in the first volume of Collectanea Græca Majora. They are also expected to be acquainted with Butler's Analogy, Locke's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

---

* Printed at Cambridge with exceeding accuracy, under the correction of Col. Alexander Négris, a native Greek of Athens.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and they are, upon examination, to satisfy the Faculty that they are well qualified for that standing.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity Hall. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent, and care of room and furniture, and use of class books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $1.75 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class books is furnished on loan. Indigent Students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

——————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

——————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the United States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life or for commercial business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the common law, and admiralty, maritime, and equity law, are taught, with occasional illustrations of foreign law.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Ashmun, Royall Professor of Law in the University, who will occasionally deliver lectures and make examinations of the students. Mr. Justice Story, Dane Professor of Law in the University, resides in Cambridge, and during the intervals of his judicial duties will assist in the superintendence of the School. He will deliver lectures upon all the branches of law belonging to his Professorship, viz. upon the Law of Nature and Nations, and upon Maritime, Commercial, Equity, and Constitutional Law.

There will be three terms and three vacations in the year, corresponding with those of the undergraduates.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms in the college buildings upon the same terms as undergraduates, and may, if they choose, board in commons as resident graduates, at the rate of $1.75 per week. The fees for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students have the use of lecture rooms, the Library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectures of the University gratis; with the opportunity of instruction in the modern languages on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studied. Gentlemen, who are graduates of a College, will complete their education in three years; those who are not graduates, in five years. Instruction, however, will be given for stated periods, as may suit the convenience of students, but without subdividing any of the terms.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student will be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good character, and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds will be required for the payment of all dues to the College.

Constant residence in Cambridge will not be deemed indispensable; it will be sufficient if attendance is given at the regular hours prescribed for lectures, examinations, and study.

The students have the use of an extensive Law Library, and access to the general Library of the University, containing more than thirty thousand volumes. They are furnished with all the books used as class books, except where they prefer to supply themselves, as they frequently will, for the purpose of making references and notes, with a view to future study and practice.

In addition to the course of reading, the students occasionally write dissertations upon subjects connected with it; and every week a moot court is held, at which, in rotation, they argue questions of law. They have also a debating club for miscellaneous discussions and improvement in extempore elocution.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

Statutes relating to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own Government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of Medicine, designing to attend the medical lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be four meetings holden in this University annually, by the faculty of medicine, for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of doctor of medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private examinations, and shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston; and two of them shall be for public examinations, and shall be holden in some one of the halls of the University in Cambridge. Three members of the faculty at least shall be present at every examination. The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter course of medical lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock A. M. In extraordinary cases the faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods. The meetings for public examinations shall be holden on such days as the President may appoint, provided that the same shall take place within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively. All the meetings described in this statute may be continued by adjournment. The meetings for the public examinations shall be open to the Governors and Instructors of the University, to the fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may choose to attend them.

IV. — Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions, before being admitted to private examinations, viz.

1. They shall have attended two courses of the lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors.

2. They shall have employed three years in their professional studies, under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

3. Those, who have not received a University education, shall satisfy the faculty of medicine in respect to their knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

4. Every candidate, intending to offer himself for private examination shall, four weeks previously, give notice of his intention to the Dean of the faculty, and shall at the same time deliver, or transmit, to the Dean a dissertation, written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine. Every dissertation shall be submitted, by the Dean, to the examination of the faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

V. — At the meetings for private examinations, the faculty shall examine all those candidates, who shall present themselves after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the fourth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the faculty in respect to each, shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the faculty, present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

VI. — Those candidates who have been approved according to the fifth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination, next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate, so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the faculty. At the close of each public examination, the faculty shall decide, in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the faculty in respect to all those candidates, whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus. The candidates will learn the decisions in respect to them by application to the President.

VII. — Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge, at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

At a meeting of the Faculty of Medicine of Harvard University, August 15, 1821.

Voted, That hereafter, the dissertations of candidates for examination in winter, shall be delivered on or before the first day of December; and that the dissertations of candidates for examination in summer, shall be delivered on or before the first day of July; and that no excuse will be received for a delay in the delivery of dissertations after the days appointed in the fourth section of the fourth statute.

NOTE. — The lectures for medical students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston, and commence annually on the third Wednesday in October. They continue four months. During the lectures, the students may find in the city various opportunities for practical instruction.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit medical students to attend the lectures on natural and experimental philosophy. The lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, during the first and third terms. In order to their admission such students must produce, to the Professor above mentioned, a certificate of their matriculation from the Dean of the faculty of medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University that they have paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same lectures, with the approbation of the President, and on producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars. Application to be made in writing to the President.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the College Treasurer. The fee is twenty dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; fifteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor; and ten dollars for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts.

The Anatomical department has a museum esteemed the richest in the country as to preparations both healthful and morbid, and is of great value in teaching and illustrating the principles of surgical anatomy. The means of teaching and studying practical anatomy are abundant, and every facility is offered to enable the student to prosecute this most important portion of his study.

The Midwifery department contains models from Florence to illustrate the practice, and to teach the anatomy of this branch of medicine. Besides these it is well supplied with plates, and preparations, to aid its study.

The Chemical department is well furnished with the apparatus required for illustration in the lectures and experimental research, and great additions are continually making. Much of the apparatus is constructed on a large scale, and the alterations which have been made in the laboratory allow the most important processes to be conducted within the view of the pupils.

The chemical lectures to the undergraduates commence at Cambridge immediately on the close of the Medical course, and in addition to the apparatus belonging to the University, much of that belonging to the Professor is removed from Boston.

These lectures are followed by those on Mineralogy and Geology, which are given in the cabinet of Mineralogy during the summer. The collection of minerals, as regards completeness and utility, is equal to any in the country. The suite of ores is peculiarly rich, as is likewise the volcanic department, and the gems and precious stones are numerous. The specimens are arranged in one spacious hall 45½ feet in length, 36 feet wide, and 17 high; they are placed in glazed cabinets against the walls of the room to the height of ten feet. A large proportion of the most beautiful specimens are arranged upon eight glazed tables, and the residue in nearly 200 drawers.

Several cases are filled with complete suites of models of crystals, and others with recent and fossil shells. The collection of organic remains has been lately enriched by a complete British series; and the French fossils are numerous.

The collection is accessible to students desirous of prosecuting the science at other times than during the lectures.

BOYLSTON MEDICAL LIBRARY.

Regulations. — Art. 6. The persons entitled to the loan of books, shall be all such members of the Massachusetts Medical Society as reside in the towns of Cambridge, Boston, Roxbury, and Charlestown, or within ten miles of the College.

Art. 7. The Students in Medicine shall have access to the Library during the continuance of the course of medical lectures annually delivered, for the purpose of taking out one volume only at a time.

Art. 10. No fee or emolument whatever, beside the stated provision, which may be made by the Corporation, shall accrue to the Librarian, or any other person, from the individuals to whom books shall be loaned, or from the visitors of the Museum.

Art. 13. From the time of the annual visitation to the commencement of the medical lectures, all books shall be retained in the Library for the special use of the medical institution; and no books shall be loaned to any person, excepting to such students as are attendant on those lectures, until the close of the course.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into three departments, viz. Law, Medical, and Public.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3000. It contains most of the valuable works in English Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and America.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Beside these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is about 35,000. Of these, 2500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Law Library	3,000
Medical do.	about 1,000
Public do.	about 35,000
Total	about 39,000

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent and Care of Room	90.00
Board for 42 weeks at $1,75 per week	73.50
Text-Books	12.50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 3.00
	$179.00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood ready for use is delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7.00 per cord. Wood unsawed, &c. can usually be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $2 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in town, from $1,75 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron, to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacob's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody, (Buttmann's and Fisk's Greek Grammar are also received;) writing Latin and Greek; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the First Term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will always be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS, — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceeding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

Military exercises are allowed on Tuesday and Thursday, from 12 to 1 o'clock, or after evening Commons; with music not oftener than every other time, and liberty of a parade on the afternoon of Exhibition days.

At convenient times, the several studies are reviewed, and the Students examined.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar, and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not bachelors of arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacob's Greek Reader, and the extracts from the Historians and Orators in the first volume of Collectanea Græca Majora. They are also expected to be acqnainted with Butler's Analogy, Locke's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and they are, upon examination, to satisfy the Faculty that they are well qualified for that standing.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity Hall. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent, care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $1.90 a week. Each Student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent Students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

——————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

——————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the United States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life or for commercial business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the common law, and admiralty, maritime, and equity law, are taught, with occasional illustrations of foreign law.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Greenleaf, Royall Professor of Law in the University. Mr. Justice Story, Dane Professor of Law in the University, resides in Cambridge, and during the intervals of his judicial duties assists in its superintendence. The Royall Professor gives instruction in the Common Law, and all the other juridical studies. In every week during the term, there are at least six private Lectures and usually more; at which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral explanations and illustrations are given by the Professors. The private Lectures are on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Public written Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors upon the more important topics of Jurisprudence. The Academic year commences in the beginning of September.

There are three terms and three vacations in the year, corresponding with those of the undergraduates.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms in the College buildings upon the same terms as undergraduates, and may, if they choose, board in Commons as Resident Graduates, at the rate of $1.90 per week. The fees for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students have the use of lecture-rooms, the Library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectures of the University gratis; with the opportunity for instruction in the modern languages on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studied. Gentlemen, who are graduates of a College, will complete their education in three years; those who are not graduates, in five years. Instruction, however, will be given for stated periods, as may suit the convenience of students, but without subdividing any of the terms.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student will be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good character and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds are required for for the payment of all dues to the College.

Constant residence in Cambridge is not deemed indispensable; it is sufficient if attendance is given at the regular hours prescribed for lectures, examinations, and study.

The students have the use of an extensive Law Library, and access to the general Library of the University, containing more than thirty-five thousand volumes. They are furnished with all the books used as class-books, except where they prefer to supply themselves, as they frequently will, for the purpose of making references and notes, with a view to future study and practice.

In addition to the course of reading, the students occasionally write dissertations upon subjects of law. Once in every week a moot court is held before one of the Professors, at which in rotation four of the students argue some law case, which is previously given out, so that they may make suitable preparation; and at the close of the arguments the Professor delivers his own opinion, commenting upon the doctrines maintained on each side.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. The parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

Statutes relating to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own Government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of Medicine, designing to attend the medical lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be four meetings holden in this University annually, by the Faculty of Medicine, for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private examinations, and shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston; and two of them shall be for public examinations, and shall be holden in some one of the halls of the University in Cambridge. Three members of the Faculty at least shall be present at every examination. The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter course of medical lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods. The meetings for public examinations shall be holden on such days as the President may appoint, provided that the same shall take place within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively. All the meetings described in this statute may be continued by adjournment. The meetings for the public examinations shall be open to the Governors and Instructors of the University, to the fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may choose to attend them.

IV. — Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions, before being admitted to private examinations, viz.

1. They shall have attended two courses of the lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors.

2. They shall have employed three years in their professional studies, under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

3. Those, who have not received a University education, shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to their knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

4. Every candidate, intending to offer himself for private examination, shall, four weeks previously, give notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and shall at the same time deliver, or transmit, to the Dean a dissertation, written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine. Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

V. — At the meetings for private examinations, the faculty shall examine all those candidates, who shall present themselves after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the fourth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the faculty in respect to each, shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty, present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

VI. — Those candidates who have been approved according to the fifth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination, next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate, so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide, in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty in respect to all those candidates, whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus. The candidates will learn the decisions in respect to them by application to the President.

VII. — Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge, at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

At a meeting of the Faculty of Medicine of Harvard University, August 15, 1821.

Voted, That hereafter, the dissertations of candidates for examination in winter, shall be delivered on or before the first day of December; and that the dissertations of candidates for examination in summer, shall be delivered on or before the first day of July; and that no excuse will be received for a delay in the delivery of dissertations after the day appointed in the fourth section of the fourth statute.

NOTE. — The lectures for medical students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston, and commence annually on the third Wednesday in October. They continue four months. During the lectures, the students may find in the city various opportunities for practical instruction.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit medical students to attend the lectures on natural and experimental philosophy. The lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, during the first and third terms. In order to their admission, such students must produce, to the Professor above mentioned, a certificate of their matriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University that they have paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same lectures, with the approbation of the President, and on producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars. Application to be made in writing to the President.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the College Treasurer. The fee is twenty dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; fifteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor, and ten dollars for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts.

The Anatomical department has a museum esteemed the richest in the country as to preparations both healthful and morbid, and is of great value in teaching and illustrating the principles of surgical anatomy. The means of teaching and studying practical anatomy are abundant, and every facility is offered to enable the student to prosecute this most important portion of his study.

The Midwifery department contains models from Florence to illustrate the practice, and to teach the anatomy of this branch of medicine. Besides these it is well supplied with plates and preparations, to aid its study.

The Chemical department is well furnished with the apparatus required for illustration in the lectures and experimental research, and great additions are continually making. Much of the apparatus is constructed on a large scale, and the alterations which have been made in the laboratory allow the most important processes to be conducted within the view of the pupils.

The chemical lectures to the undergraduates commence at Cambridge immediately on the close of the Medical course, and in addition to the apparatus belonging to the University, much of that belonging to the Professor is removed from Boston.

These lectures are followed by those on Mineralogy and Geology, which are given in the Cabinet of Mineralogy during the summer. The collection of minerals, as regards completeness and utility, is equal to any in the country. The suite of ores is peculiarly rich, as is likewise the volcanic department, and the gems and precious stones are numerous. The specimens are arranged in one spacious hall 45¼ feet in length, 86 feet wide, and 17 high; they are placed in glazed cabinets against the walls of the room to the height of ten feet. A large proportion of the most beautful specimens are arranged upon eight glazed tables, and the residue in nearly 200 drawers.

Several cases are filled with complete suites of models of crystals, and others with recent and fossil shells. The collection of organic remains has been lately enriched by a complete British series; and the French fossils are numerous.

The collection is accessible to students desirous of prosecuting the science at other times than during the lectures.

BOYLSTON MEDICAL LIBRARY.

REGULATIONS. — Art. 6. The persons entitled to the loan of books, shall be all such members of the Massachusetts Medical Society as reside in the towns of Cambridge, Boston, Roxbury, and Charlestown, or within ten miles of the College.

Art. 7. The Students in Medicine shall have access to the library during the continuance of the course of medical lectures annually delivered, for the purpose of taking out one volume only at a time.

Art. 10. No fee or emolument whatever, beside the stated provision, which may be made by the Corporation, shall accrue to the Librarian, or any other person, from the individuals to whom books shall be loaned, or from the visitors of the Museum.

Art. 13. From the time of the annual visitation to the commencement of the medical lectures, all books shall be retained in the Library for the special use of the medical institution; and no books shall be loaned to any person, excepting to such students as are attendant on those lectures, until the close of the course.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into three departments, viz. Law, Medical, and Public.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3,000. It contains most of the valuable works in English Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and America.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Beside these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is about 35,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Law Library - - - - - - - - -	3,000
Medical do. - - - - - - - - -	about 1,000
Public do. - - - - - - - - -	about 35,000
Total -	about 39,000

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture-Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent and Care of Room	90.00
Board for 42 weeks at $1.90 per week	79.80
Text-books	12.50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 8.00
	$179.00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7.50 per cord for wood, and $8.00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed, &c. can usually be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within two hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron, to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the Faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the ıole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacobs's Greek Reader, d the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's lition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including osody, (Buttmann's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received;) writing ıtin and Greek; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, inted also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and corctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If ey have more time than is requisite for this purpose, Instructers are desired ıd advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but ther to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering ıemselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement eek. If any one be admitted after the second week of the first term, he ill be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

No person will be examined for admission to College, at any other time than t the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, hen it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the lass; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination f candidates under such circumstances.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at ny part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. n order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the reshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies f the class which he proposes to enter. He will also be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he s admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if on examination he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS: — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not bachelors of arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacobs's Greek Reader, the extracts from the Historians and Orators in the first volume of Collectanea Græca Majora, Butler's Analogy, Locke's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and they are, upon examination, to satisfy the Faculty that they are well qualified for that standing.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity College. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $1.90 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

——————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

——————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen destined for the bar in the different parts of the United States, and also elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar but yet desirous of qualifying themselves for public life or for commercial business. The various branches of public and constitutional law, the common law, and admiralty, maritime, and equity law, are taught, with occasional illustrations of foreign law.

The school is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Greenleaf, Royall Professor of Law in the University. Mr. Justice Story, Dane Professor of Law in the University, resides in Cambridge, and during the intervals of his judicial duties assists in its superintendence. The Dane Professor gives instruction in the principal branches of maritime, commercial, equity, and constitutional jurisprudence. The Royall Professor gives instruction in the Common Law, and all the other juridical studies. In every week during the term, there are at least six private Lectures and usually more; at which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral explanations and illustrations are given by the Professors. The private Lectures are on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Public written Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors upon the more important topics of Jurisprudence. The Academic year commences in the beginning of September.

There are three terms and three vacations in the year, corresponding with those of the undergraduates.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms in Graduates' Hall, a spacious building erected principally for their use, or in the College buildings, upon the same terms as undergraduates, and may, if they choose, board in Commons as Resident Graduates, at the rate of $1.90 per week. The fees for instruction are $100 per annum, for which the students have the use of lecture-rooms, the Library, and the privilege of attending all the public lectures of the University gratis; with the opportunity for instruction in the modern languages on the payment of $10 per annum for each language studied.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student will be expected to bring from his parents or friends a certificate of his good character and some general statement of his previous studies. Bonds are required for the payment of all dues to the College.

Constant residence in Cambridge is not deemed indispensable; it is sufficient if attendance is given at the regular hours prescribed for lectures, examinations, and study.

Instruction is given for any stated periods which may suit the convenience of students, but without subdividing any of the terms.

The students have the use of the Law Library, which is kept in Dane Law College, and contains at present upwards of thirty-five hundred volumes, and access to the general Library of the University, containing about thirty-six thousand volumes. They are furnished with all the books used as class-books, except where they prefer to supply themselves, as they frequently will, for the purpose of making references and notes, with a view to future study and practice.

In addition to the course of reading, the students occasionally write dissertations upon subjects of law. Once in every week a moot court is held before one of the Professors, at which in rotation four of the students argue some law case, which is previously given out, so that they may make suitable preparation; and at the close of the arguments the Professor delivers his own opinion, commenting upon the doctrines maintained on each side.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on students who have completed the regular term of professional studies required by the laws or rules in the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having been passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. The parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree in Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered. They may be continued by adjournment, by vote of the members present; and if only one member attend at the time and place designated, he may adjourn the meeting from day to day till three members of the Faculty may attend the meeting. Three members of the Faculty must be present on every examination.

IV. — The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter courses of Medical Lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases, the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods.

V. — The meetings for public examinations shall be holden within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively, on such days as the Faculty may appoint, if not otherwise ordered by the President. These meetings shall be open to the Governors and Inspectors of the University, to the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may wish to attend them.

VI. — Every candidate for the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, must comply with the following conditions before being admitted to a private examination, viz.

1. He shall satisfy the Faculty that he has arrived at the age of twenty-one.

2. He shall have attended two courses of the Lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors. Except that if he have attended a course of similar Lectures in any other College or University, the same may take the place of one of the above courses.

3. He shall have employed three years in his professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

4. If he has not received a University education, he shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to his knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

5. He shall, four weeks previous to the day on which he presents himself for examination, have given notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and at the same time shall have delivered or transmitted to the Dean, a dissertation written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine.

VII. — Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

VIII. — At the meetings for private examinations, the Faculty shall examine all those candidates who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the sixth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the Faculty in respect to each shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

IX. — Those candidates, who have been approved according to the eighth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty in respect to all those candidates whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus.

X. — Those candidates who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The Lectures for Medical students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston. They commence annually on the first Wednesday in November, and continue three months. For one month after the close of the Lectures, the dissecting-room of the Medical College will be open without additional fee; and those students who are entitled to attend the practice in the Massachusetts Hospital will be permitted to continue their attendance on the same.

Students attending the Lectures of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery are admitted to see the Surgical Practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital; and those attending the Lectures of the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, are admitted to see the Medical Practice in the same.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit Medical students to attend the Lectures on Natural and Experimental Philosophy. The Lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, between the middle of March and the middle of July annually. A medical student applying for admission to these Lectures, must produce, to the Professor abovementioned, a certificate of his matriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University, that he has paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same Lectures, with the approbation of the President, and producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars.

At the private examinations, the candidates will present their certificates from the Physicians under whose care they have studied; also their tickets of admission to the several courses of Medical Lectures.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the Dean. The fee is twenty-three dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; eighteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor; and thirteen for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts. In these fees the Diploma is included.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Medical, Law, and Public; which last, besides books in all other departments of learning, embraces also an extensive collection of works on Theology, Medicine, and Law.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, about 700. They consist of valuable select works, principally in modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Beside these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3,500. It contains most of the valuable works in English Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and America.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is above 36,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Theological Library		about	700
Medical	do.	"	1,000
Law	do.	"	3,500
Public	do.	above	36,000
	Total	above	41,200

and there are in the Society Libraries of the Students 4,500 volumes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture-Rooms, Steward's Department,
Rent and Care of Room	90.00
Board for 42 weeks at $1.90 per week	79.80
Text-books	12.50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 3.00
	$185.30

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7,50 per cord for wood, and $8 00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed can usually be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron,* to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the Faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

---

* Mr. Oliver Sparhawk, the Steward of the University, is the present Patron appointed by the Corporation.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacobs's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody, (Buttmann's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received;) writing Latin and Greek; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the first term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than at the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, when it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the class; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination of candidates under such circumstances.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will also be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if on examination he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical-Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS: — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not bachelors of arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacobs's Greek Reader, the extracts from the Historians and Orators in the first volume of Collectanea Græca Majora, Butler's Analogy, Locke's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and pass an examination in the studies which that class has pursued.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity College. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $1.90 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

———————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

———————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew and other Oriental Languages, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the bar in either of the United States; and elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but desirous of qualifying themselves either for public life, or for commercial business. The course of instruction embraces the various branches of Public and Constitutional Law, Admiralty, Maritime, Equity, and Common Law, with occasional illustrations of Foreign Jurisprudence.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Greenleaf, Royall Professor of Law, in the University. Mr. Justice Story, of the Supreme Court of the United States, is Dane Professor of Law in the University, and participates equally in the active labors of instruction, when not engaged in judicial duties. His course includes the principal branches of Maritime, Equity, Commercial, and Constitutional Law. The Royall Professor gives instruction in the Common Law, and in all the other juridical studies. In every week of the term there are at least six private lectures, and usually more; at which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral explanations and illustrations are given by the Professors. Public written lectures are also occasionally delivered, upon the more important topics of jurisprudence.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in two years; and, with reference to these studies, the students are divided into classes, according to their proficiency; but students are generally at liberty to join either class, in as many studies as they may choose, according to their own view of their wants and attainments.

The Academical year is divided into three terms and three vacations, corresponding with those for undergraduates.

During the two ensuing Academical years, the books read with Professor Story will be the following. First Year. First or Autumn Term. Bayley on Bills of Exchange; Story on the Conflict of Laws. Spring Term. Abbott on Shipping; Story on Bailments; Cooper on Equity. Second Year. First or Autumn Term. Marshall on Insurance; Long on Sales. Spring Term. Paley on Agency; Gow on Partnership; Equity. The following books will be read with Professor Greenleaf. First Year. Autumn Term. Blackstone's Commentaries; Chitty on Pleading. Winter Term. Kent's Commentaries; Starkie on Evidence; Story on the Constitution. Spring Term. Chitty on Contracts; Stephen on Pleading; Angell and Ames on Corporations; Cruise's Digest of the Law of Real Property. Second Year. The same books as in the preceding year. For gentlemen who remain in the Institution three years, other studies are prescribed.

A moot Court is holden every week, by one of the Professors, at which a cause, previously given out and prepared, is argued by four students, in rotation, and an opinion is delivered by the presiding Professor.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms, in the spacious and convenient college buildings prepared for their use, upon the same terms as undergraduates; and may, if they choose, board in Commons, as resident graduates, at $1.25 per week. They may, at their pleasure, receive instruction in any of the modern languages, at the price of $10 per annum for each language studied. The rent of College rooms is from $10 to $17 per term. Rooms in private houses can be had at from 75 cents to $1 per week; and private board at from $2 to $3 per week.

The fees for instruction in the Law School are $100 per annum, and proportionably for a single term: for which sum the students have the use of the lecture rooms; the Law Library, containing upwards of 3600 volumes; the general Library of the University, containing about 36,000 volumes; and the privilege of attending, gratis, all the public lectures, in every department of the University. They are also furnished with all the books studied as class books in the School, unless they prefer their own, for the sake of making notes and references, with a view to future study and practice. Instruction is given for any period, not less than one term, which may suit the convenience of the student.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student, not known to the Faculty, is expected to produce satisfactory testimonials of good character, and some statement of his previous studies. Bonds in the penal sum of $144 are given to the Steward for the payment of all dues to the University.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on all students who have completed the regular term of professional studies, required by the laws and rules of the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having been passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. The parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered. They may be continued by adjournment, by vote of the members present; and if only one member attend at the time and place designated, he may adjourn the meeting from day to day till three members of the Faculty may attend the meeting. Three members of the Faculty must be present on every examination.

IV. — The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter courses of Medical Lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases, the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods.

V. — The meetings for public examinations shall be holden within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively, on such days as the Faculty may appoint, if not otherwise ordered by the President. These meetings shall be open to the Governors and Inspectors of the University, to the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may wish to attend them.

VI. — Every candidate for the Degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions before being admitted to a private examination, viz.

1. He shall satisfy the Faculty that he has arrived at the age of twenty-one.

2. He shall have attended two courses of the Lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors. Except that if he have attended a course of similar Lectures in any other College or University, the same may take the place of one of the above courses.

3. He shall have employed three years in his professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

4. If he has not received a University education, he shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to his knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

5. He shall, four weeks previous to the day on which he presents himself for examination, have given notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and at the same time shall have delivered or transmitted to the Dean, a dissertation written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine.

VII. — Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

VIII. — At the meetings for private examinations, the Faculty shall examine all those candidates who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the sixth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the Faculty in respect to each shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

IX. — Those candidates, who have been approved according to the eighth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty in respect to all those candidates whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus.

X. — Those candidates who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The Lectures for Medical Students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston. They commence annually on the first Wednesday in November, and continue three months. For one month after the close of the Lectures, the dissecting-room of the Medical College will be open without additional fee; and those students who are entitled to attend the practice in the Massachusetts Hospital will be permitted to continue their attendance on the same.

Students attending the Lectures of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery are admitted to see the Surgical Practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital; and those attending the Lectures of the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, are admitted to see the Medical Practice in the same.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit Medical Students to attend the Lectures on Natural and Experimental Philosophy. The Lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, between the middle of March and the middle of July annually. A Medical Student applying for admission to these Lectures, must produce, to the Professor abovementioned, a certificate of his matriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University, that he has paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same Lectures, with the approbation of the President, and producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars.

At the private examinations, the candidates will present their certificates from the Physicians under whose care they have studied; also their tickets of admission to the several courses of Medical Lectures.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the Dean. The fee is twenty-three dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; eighteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor, and thirteen for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts. In these fees the Diploma is included.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Medical, Law, and Public; which last, besides books in all other departments of learning, embraces also an extensive collection of works on Theology, Medicine, and Law.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, about 700. They consist of valuable select works, principally in modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Beside these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3,600. It contains most of the valuable works in English and American Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and Spain.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is above 36,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Theological Library	- - - - - - -	about	700
Medical	do. - - - - - - -	"	1,000
Law	do. - - - - - - -	"	3,600
Public	do. - - - - - - -	above	36,000
	Total -	above	41,300

and there are in the Society Libraries of the Students 4,500 volumes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture-Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent, and Care of Room	90.00
Board for 42 weeks at $1.90 per week	79.80
Text-books	12.50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 8.00
	$185.80

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7.50 per cord for wood, and $8.00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed can usually be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture. 2 50 to 3.50

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron,* to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the Faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

* Levi Farwell, Esq., the Steward of the University, is the present Patron appointed by the Corporation.

once is allowed to charge in each term for two dollars for his services

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the candidates are examined in the whole of Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, and Sallust; Jacob's Greek Reader, and the four Gospels of the Greek Testament; Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, and the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, both including Prosody, (Buttman's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received;) writing Latin and Greek; Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition; Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge; "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructors are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is the first Thursday of the summer vacation. Those who are necessarily prevented from offering themselves at that time, may be examined on the Friday of Commencement week. If any one be admitted after the second week of the first term, he will be considered as admitted to advanced standing.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than at the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, when it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the class; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination of candidates under such circumstances.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate, in addition to the requisites for the Freshman Class, must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will also be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if on examination he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided, that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies prososed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, on, or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS; — the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not bachelors of arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacob's Greek Reader, the extracts from the Historians and Orators in the first volume of Collectanea Græca Majora, Butler's Analogy, Lock's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and pass an examination in the studies which that class has pursued.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity College. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $1,90 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

———————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral Care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

———————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew and other Oriental Languages, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the bar in either of the United States; and elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but desirous of qualifying themselves either for public life, or for commercial business. The course of instruction embraces the various branches of Public and Constitutional Law, Admiralty, Maritime, Equity, and Common Law, with occasional illustrations of Foreign Jurisprudence.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. GREENLEAF, Royal Professor of Law, in the University. Mr. JUSTICE STORY, of the Supreme Court of the United States, is Dane Professor of Law in the University, and participates equally in the active labors of instruction, when not engaged in judicial duties. His course includes the principal branches of Maritime, Equity, Commercial, and Constitutional Law. The Royal Professor gives instruction in the Common Law, and in all the other juridical studies. In every week of the term there are at least six private lectures, and usually more; at which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral explanations and illustrations are given by the Professors. Public written lectures are also occasionally delivered, upon the more important topics of jurisprudence.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in two years; and, with reference to these studies, the students are divided into classes, according to their proficiency; but students are generally at liberty to join either class, in as many studies as they may choose, according to their own view of their wants and attainments.

The Academical year is divided into three terms and three vacations, corresponding with those for undergraduates.

During the two ensuing Academical years, the books read with Professor STORY will be the following. FIRST YEAR. First or Autumn Term. Bayley on Bills of Exchange; Story on the Conflict of Laws. Spring Term. Abbott on Shipping; Story on Bailments; Cooper on Equity. SECOND YEAR. First or Autumn Term. Marshall on Insurance; Long on Sales. Spring Term. Paley on Agency; Gow on Partnership; Equity. The following books will be read with Professor GREENLEAF. FIRST YEAR. Autumn Term. Blackstone's Commentaries; Chitty on Pleading. Winter Term. Kent's Commentaries; Starkie on Evidence; Story on the Constitution. Spring Term. Chitty on Contracts; Stephen on Pleading; Angell and Ames on Corporations; Cruise's Digest of the Law of Real Property. SECOND YEAR. The same books as in the preceding year. For gentlemen who remain in the Institution three years, other studies are prescribed.

A moot Court is holden every week, by one of the Professors, at which a cause, previously given out and prepared, is argued by four students, in rotation, and an opinion is delivered by the presiding Professor.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms, in the spacious and convenient college buildings prepared for their use, upon the same terms as undergraduates; and may, if they choose, board in Commons, as resident graduates, at $1,90 per week. They may, at their pleasure, receive instruction in any of the modern languages, at the price of $10 per annum for each language studied. The rent of College rooms is from $10 to $17 per term. Rooms in private houses can be had at from 75 cents to $1 per week; and private board at from $2 to $3 per week.

The fees for instruction in the Law School are $100 per annum, and proportionably for a single term: for which sum the students have the use of the lecture rooms; the Law Library, containing upwards of 3600 volumes; the general Library of the University, containing about 36,000 volumes; and the privilege of attending, gratis, all the public lectures, in every department of the University. They are also furnished with all the books studied as class books in the School, unless they prefer their own, for the sake of making notes and references, with a view to future study and practice. Instruction is given for any period, not less than one term, which may suit the convenience of the student.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student, not known to the Faculty, is expected to produce satisfactory testimonials of good character, and some statement of his previous studies. Bonds in the penal sum of $144 are given to the Steward for the payment of all dues to the University.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on all students who have completed the regular term of professional studies, required by the laws and rules of the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having been passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. The parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I.—The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II.—Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III.—There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered. They may be continued by adjournment, by vote of the members present; and if only one member attend at the time and place designated, he may adjourn the meeting from day to day, till three members of the Faculty may attend the meeting. Three members of the Faculty must be present on every examination.

IV.—The first meeting for private examinations in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter courses of Medical Lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases, the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods.

V.—The meetings for public examinations shall be holden within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively, on such days as the Faculty may appoint, if not otherwise ordered by the President. These meetings shall be open to the Governors and Inspectors of the University, to the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may wish to attend them.

VI.—Every candidate for the Degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions before being admitted to a private examination, viz.

1. He shall satisfy the Faculty that he has arrived at the age of twenty-one.

2. He shall have attended two courses of the Lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors. Except that if he have attended a course of similar Lectures in any other College or University, the same may take the place of one of the above courses.

3. He shall have employed three years in his professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

4. If he has not received a University education, he shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to his knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

5. He shall, four weeks previous to the day on which he presents himself for examination, have given notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and at the same time shall have delivered or transmitted to the Dean, a dissertation written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine.

VII.—Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

VIII.—At the meetings for private examinations, the Faculty shall examine all those candidates who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the sixth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz.: Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the Faculty in respect to each shall be nade and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decision in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard hall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

IX.—Those candidates, who have been approved according to the eighth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty in respect to all those candidates whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus.

X.—Those candidates who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The Lectures for Medical Students on the various branches mentioned in the statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston. They commence annually on the first Wednesday in November, and continue three months. For one month after the close of the Lectures, the dissecting-room of the Medical College will be open without additional fee; and those students who are entitled to attend the practice in the Massachusetts Hospital, will be permitted to continue their attendance on the same.

Students attending the Lectures of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery are admitted to see the Surgical Practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital; and those attending the Lectures of the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, are admitted to see the Medical Practice in the same.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit Medical Students to attend the Lectures on Natural and Experimental Philosophy. The Lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, between the middle of March and the middle of July annually. A Medical Student applying for admission to these Lectures, must produce, to the Professor abovementioned, a certificate of his matriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University, that he has paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer Other persons may be admitted to the same Lectures, with the approbation of the President, and producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars.

At the private examinations, the candidates will present their certificates from the Physicians under whose care they have studied; also their tickets of admission to the several courses of Medical Lectures.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the Dean The fee is twenty-three dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; eighteen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor, and thirteen for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts. In these fees the Diploma is included.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Medical, Law, and Public; which last, besides books in all other departments of learning, embraces also an extensive collection of works on Theology, Medicine, and Law.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, about 700. They consist of valuable select works, principally in modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important, and the most used by students. Besides these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, 3,600. It contains most of the valuable works in English and American Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and Spain.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is above 36,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Theological Library		about	700
Medical	do.	"	1,000
Law	do.	"	3,600
Public	do.	above	36,000
	Total	above	41,300

and there are in the Society Libraries of the Students 4,500 volumes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent and care of Room,	90,00
Board for 42 weeks, at $1,90 per week	79,80
Text-books,	12,50
Special Repairs, &c. about	3,00
	$185,30

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7,50 per cord for wood, and $8,00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed can usually be obtained from the country for about $6 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2 to $3. The students find their own beds and furniture.

The funds for the use of students who are not of this Commonwealth, unless they belong to places within one hundred miles of Cambridge, must be in the charge of a Patron,* to be disbursed for the use of such students, under the direction of the Faculty of the University.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

* Levi Farwell, Esq. the Steward of the University, is the present Patron appointed by the Corporation.

PROSPECTUS

FOR PUBLISHING IN CAMBRIDGE, THE SECOND VOLUME OF HARVARDIANA.....A LITERARY JOURNAL.

CONDUCTED BY UNDERGRADUATES OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

The connection of the present Senior Class with HARVARDIANA ceasing with their academical career, a conviction of the benefits arising from such a publication to undergraduates, has induced their successors to continue it another year. Its contributors do not expect to enlighten or surprise the world; in their discussions, they may not have the "argument," but, as far as their perceptions admit, they will endeavor to have the "truth on their side." Their poetry may be suggested by some accidental hint, not founded upon deep philosophy, —yet it may open to its authors a pleasing and novel world, their expressions of gratification at the sight of which cannot be burdensome even to him who is familiar with it in all its aspects. The tales may not be so intricate in their plot as Wycherley's "Love in a Wood," in which he involves himself in a labyrinth from which neither he nor his readers can extricate him,—yet, unlike the "olde romaunces," they will at least possess the merit of having an end. It will be seen, therefore, that the object of this Periodical, as of every Periodical conducted by the young, is rather the improvement of its writers than the edification of its readers; and those that render it their support, will add one more to the sources of instruction that already abound in the University, and will maintain between its members and the world a means of connection, that will, through the criticisms that may be made upon their compositions, conduce to their advantage and reconcile them to reproof.

The work will be issued monthly, upon fine paper and good type, each Number containing about 32 pages, 8vo. Terms, $2,00 per annum.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class the candidates are examined in the following books: — viz.

By the Latin Department,

in the whole of Virgil, and of Cæsar,* in Cicero's Select Orations, and Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, including Prosody, and in the writing of Latin.

By the Greek Department,

in Jacob's Greek Reader, the four Gospels of the Greek Testament, the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, including Prosody, (Buttman's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received;) and in writing Greek.

By the Mathematical Department,

in Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition, Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge, and in "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is on the Monday and Tuesday of commencement week beginning precisely at 6 o'clock, A. M.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than at the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, when it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the class; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination of candidates under such circumstances.

---

* In substituting Cæsar for Sallust (which was formerly required) the Faculty have been influenced by a desire to introduce Sallust into the College course, to which, from the philosophical character of its views and the peculiarity of its style, they apprehend it to be better suited than to the preparatory course, and also by a wish that any time gained by the substitution of an easier for a more difficult author should be devoted to the acquisition of a more thorough acquaintance with syntax and prosody, and to the practice of writing Latin.

At the examination in August, 1837, those instructers who prefer it, may have their scholars examined in Sallust instead of Cæsar.

Persons may be admitted to advanced standing, or from any other College, at any part of the College course previous to the Second Term of the Senior year. In order to such admission, the candidate must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the studies of the class which he proposes to enter. He will also be examined in the whole course, including the preparatory studies. He must also pay into the Treasury, at the rate of $15 per term, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any Scholar, however, who has a regular dismission from another College, may be admitted to the same standing, if on examination he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration.

The University is open to persons who are not candidates for a degree, and who desire to study in particular departments only: Provided that such persons have a good moral character; that their previous acquisitions be such as are now demanded of Students before admission, so far as the studies proposed to be pursued shall require; and that they be subject to all the laws of the University, in regard to diligence, good conduct, and College discipline.

Graduates of any public College or University, also persons sufficiently acquainted with the Greek and Latin languages, and otherwise qualified to the satisfaction of the Faculty, are admissible as Theological Students. Application to be made to the Dean of the Faculty of Theology.

Medical Students, who would attend the course of Medical Lectures at the Massachusetts College of Medicine in Boston, enter their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine on or before the third Tuesday in October.

Every person, before admission to any of the Classes or Schools of the University, must exhibit proper testimonials of a good moral character.

COMMENCEMENT is on the last Wednesday in August. The academical year is divided into three TERMS and three VACATIONS:—the first Vacation is of two weeks, from the Wednesday preceding the 25th day of December; the second is of two weeks, from the first Wednesday in April; and the third embraces the six weeks next preceding Commencement.

The Public Exhibitions are on the third Tuesday of October, and on the second Tuesday and the last Monday of the Third Term.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday in May.

The Juniors and Seniors present Themes once a fortnight.

The Juniors and Seniors likewise read Forensics once in four weeks, — half the class each fortnight.

At convenient times, the several studies are reviewed, and the Students examined.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the day before Commencement, and pass an examination in Hebrew Grammar and the first ten chapters of Deuteronomy. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character. Candidates, not Bachelors of Arts, will be examined in Latin and Greek Grammar, Virgil, Cicero's Select Orations, Sallust, Jacobs's Greek Reader, the first four books of Xenophon's Anabasis, the first book of Herodotus, Butler's Analogy, Locke's Essay, or some other treatise on Intellectual Philosophy, Paley's Moral Philosophy, or some other standard work on Ethics, and some approved compendium of Logic, Rhetoric, Geography, Arithmetic, Geometry, and Algebra.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology, as long as the class into which they propose to be received; and pass an examination in the studies which that class has pursued.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity College. They give bonds in the sum of $60 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the College Commons for $2,25 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to ten weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Instruction is given by the Hollis Professor in Natural Religion, Evidences of Revealed Religion, Church History, and Systematic Theology.

——————— by the Professor of Pulpit Eloquence and the Pastoral care, in Extempore Speaking, the Composition and Delivery of Sermons, and the Duties of the Pastoral Office.

——————— by the Professor of Biblical Literature, in Hebrew and other Oriental Languages, and the Criticism of the Old and New Testaments.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Professor of the German Language and Literature, and to be present at all public lectures of the University.

LAW SCHOOL.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the bar in either of the United States; and elementary instruction for gentlemen not destined for the bar, but desirous of qualifying themselves, either for public life, or for commercial business. The course of instruction embraces the various branches of Public and Constitutional Law, Admirality, Maritime, Equity, and Common Law, with occasional illustrations of Foreign Jurisprudence.

The School is under the immediate superintendence and direction of Mr. Greenleaf, Royall Professor of Law, in the University. Mr. Justice Story, of the Supreme Court of the United States, is Dane Professor of Law in the University, and participates equally in the active labors of instruction, when not engaged in judicial duties. His course includes the principal branches of Maritime, Equity, Commercial, and Constitutional Law. The Royall Professor gives instruction in the Common Law, and in all the other juridical studies. In every week of the term there are at least six private lectures, and usually more; at which the students are examined in their respective studies, and oral explanations and illustrations are given by the Professors. Public written lectures are also occasionally delivered, upon the more important topics of jurisprudence.

The course of studies is so arranged as to be completed in two years; and, with reference to these studies, the students are divided into classes, according to their proficiency; but students are generally at liberty to join either class, in as many studies as they may choose, according to their own view of their wants and attainments.

The Academical year is divided into three terms and three vacations, corresponding with those for undergraduates.

For the ensuing Academical year, the books read with Professor STORY will be the following. First or Autumn Term. Marshall on Insurance; Long on Sales. Spring Term. Paley on Agency; Gow on Partnership; Story on Equity. The following books will be read with Professor GREENLEAF. Autumn Term. Blackstone's Commentaries; Chitty on Pleading. Winter Term. Kent's Commentaries; Starkie on Evidence; Story on the Constitution. Spring Term. Chitty on Contracts; Stephen on Pleading; Angell and Ames on Corporations; Cruise's Digest of the Law of Real Property. For gentlemen who remain in the Institution three years, other studies are prescribed.

A moot Court is holden every week, by one of the Professors, at which a cause, previously given out and prepared, is argued by four students, in rotation, and an opinion is delivered by the presiding Professor.

Students may generally be accommodated with rooms, in the spacious and convenient college buildings prepared for their use, upon the same terms as undergraduates; and may, if they choose, board in Commons, as resident graduates, at $2,25 per week. They may, at their pleasure, receive instruction in any of the modern languages, at the price of $10 per annum for each language studied. The rent of College rooms is from $10 to $17 per term. Rooms in private houses can be had at from 75 cents to $1 per week; and private board at from $2,50 to 3,50 per week.

The fees for instruction in the Law School are $100 per annum, and proportionably for a single term; for which sum the students have the use of the lecture rooms; the Law Library, containing upwards of 4000 volumes; the general Library of the University, containing about 38,000 volumes; and the privilege of attending, gratis, all the public lectures, in every Department of the University. They are also furnished with all the books studied as class books in the School, unless they prefer their own, for the sake of making notes and references, with a view to future study and practice. Instruction is given for any period, not less than one term, which may suit the convenience of the student.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student not known to the Faculty is expected to produce satisfatory testimonials of good character, and some statement of his previous studies. Bonds in the penal sum of $140 are given to the Steward for the payment of all dues to the University.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on all students who have completed the regular term of professional studies, required by the laws and rules of the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having been passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. The parallel course is prescribed chiefly for private reading.

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered. They may be continued by adjournment, by vote of the members present; and if only one member attend at the time and place designated, he may adjourn the meeting from day to day till three members of the Faculty may attend the meeting. Three members of the Faculty must be present on every examination.

IV. — The first meeting for private examination in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter courses of Medical Lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases, the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods.

V. — The meetings for public examinations shall be holden within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively, on such days as the Faculty may appoint, if not otherwise ordered by the President. These meetings shall be open to the Governors and Inspectors of the University, to the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable persons as may wish to attend them.

VI. — Every candidate for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions before being admitted to a private examination, viz.

1. He shall satisfy the Faculty that he has arrived at the age of twenty-one.

2. He shall have attended two courses of the Lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors. Except that if he have attended a course of similar Lectures in any other College or University, the same may take the place of one of the above courses.

3. He shall have employed three years in his professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

4. If he has not received a University education, he shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to his knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

5. He shall, four weeks previous to the day on which he presents himself for examination, have given notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and at the same time shall have delivered or transmitted to the Dean a dissertation written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine.

VII. — Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

VIII. — At the meetings for private examinations, the Faculty shall examine all those candidates who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the sixth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the Faculty in respect to each shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decission in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

IX. — Those candidates, who have been approved according to the eighth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty, in respect to all those candidates whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus.

X. — Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The Lectures for Medical Students, on the various branches mentioned in the Statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston. They commence annually on the first Wednesday in November, and continue three months. For one month after the close of the Lectures, the dissecting-room of the Medical College will be open without additional fee; and those students who are entitled to attend the practice in the Massachusetts Hospital will be permitted to continue their attendance on the same.

Students attending the Lectures of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery are admitted to see the Surgical Practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital; and those, attending the Lectures of the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, are admitted to see the Medical Practice in the same.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit Medical Students to attend the Lectures on Natural and Experimental Philosophy. The Lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, between the middle of March and the middle of July annually. A Medical Student applying for admission to these Lectures must produce, to the Professor abovementioned, a certificate of his martriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University, that he has paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same Lectures, with the approbation of the President, and producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars.

At the private examinations, the candidates will present their certificates from the Physicians under whose care they have studied; also their tickets of admission to the several courses of Medical Lectures.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the Dean.

The fee is twenty-three dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; eighteeen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor, and thirteen for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts. In these fees the Diploma is included.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Medical, Law, and Public; which last, besides books in all other departments of learning, embraces also an extensive collection of works on Theology, Medicine, and Law.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges, must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, about 700. They consist of valuable select works, principally in modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important and the most used by students. Besides these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, about 4,000. It contains most of the valuable works in English and American Law, and in the Civil Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and Spain.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is about 38,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Theological Library		about	700
Medical	do.	"	1,000
Law	do.	"	4,000
Public	do.	"	38,000
	Total	about	43,700

and there are in the Society Libraries of the Students 4,500 volumes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture-Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent, and Care of Room	$90,00
Board for 42 weeks at $2,25 per week	94,50
Text-books	12,50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 3,00
	199,50

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7,50 per cord for wood, and $8,00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed can usually be obtained from the country for about $8 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2,50 to $3,50. The students find their own beds and furniture.

LAWS RELATIVE TO THE PATRON.

[EXTRACTED FROM THE GENERAL LAWS OF THE UNIVERSITY.]

Some gentleman of Cambridge, not of the Faculty, shall be appointed by the Corporation to be Patron* of all Students, not of this Commonwealth, who belong to places more than one hundred miles distant from Cambridge, and shall have charge of all the funds of such Students.

The Patron shall have particular instruction from the authorities of the University concerning the kind of expenses allowed to be incurred by the Students whose funds are in his hands, and he shall make no disbursements and pay no bills inconsistent with such instructions; and whatever bills he may pay shall contain a distinct specification and charge of every article.

The Patron shall give a detailed account of the expenses incurred by each Student under his care to the Faculty, and to the Corporation, when required.

The parent or guardian of each Student shall be informed what are the necessary annual expenses included in the term-bills; and he shall also be informed by the Patron what funds for the support and use of his son or ward must be remitted to him; and the Patron is to have the whole control of the same, under the direction of the Faculty.

No Student, subject to this law, shall be permitted to continue at the University, unless he comply with it; and every such Student is to be charged in his term-bills at the rate of six dollars a year, towards a compensation to the Patron.

No such Student is allowed to contract any debt without an order from the Patron.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

---

* Levi Farwell, Esq., the Steward of the University, is the present Patron appointed by the Corporation.

ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class the candidates are examined in the following books: — viz.

By the Latin Department,

in the whole of Virgil, and of Cæsar,* in Cicero's Select Orations, and Adam's Latin Grammar, Gould's edition, including Prosody, and in the writing of Latin.

By the Greek Department,

in Jacob's Greek Reader, the four Gospels of the Greek Testament, the Gloucester Greek Grammar, Cambridge edition, including Prosody, (Buttman's and Fisk's Greek Grammars are also received;) and in writing Greek.

By the Mathematical Department,

in Lacroix's Arithmetic, Cambridge edition, Euler's Algebra, printed also at Cambridge, and in "Elements of Geography, Ancient and Modern, by J. E. Worcester."

It is very desirable and important that the candidates should be well and correctly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructers are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the College studies, but rather to extend their studies to other authors.

The stated time of examination for the Freshman Class is on the Monday and Tuesday of commencement week beginning precisely at 6 o'clock, A. M.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than at the close or commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructers are requested not to offer candidates for examination, when it is not their intention that, if admitted, they shall immediately join the class; and the Faculty will, for the future, decline entering on the examination of candidates under such circumstances.

---

* In substituting Cæsar for Sallust (which was formerly required) the Faculty have been influenced by a desire to introduce Sallust into the College course, to which, from the philosophical character of its views and the peculiarity of its style, they apprehend it to be better suited than to the preparatory course, and also by a wish that any time gained by the substitution of an easier for a more difficult author should be devoted to the acquisition of a more thorough acquaintance with syntax and prosody, and to the practice of writing Latin.

At the examination in August, 1837, those instructers who prefer it, may have their scholars examined in Sallust instead of Cæsar.

nished with all the books studied as class books in the School, unless they prefer their own, for the sake of making notes and references, with a view to future study and practice. Instruction is given for any period, not less than one term, which may suit the convenience of the student.

No previous examination is necessary for admission; but every student not known to the Faculty is expected to produce satisfatory testimonials of good character, and some statement of his previous studies. Bonds in the penal sum of $140 are given to the Steward for the payment of all dues to the University.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is conferred by the University on all students who have completed the regular term of professional studies, required by the laws and rules of the State to which they belong, eighteen months thereof having been passed in the Law School of this Institution.

Course of Study.

The books marked thus (*) compose the course which is completed in two years. The studies of gentlemen who remain longer in the School are pursued in the remaining books in the regular course, to which others are added from time to time, as far as the leisure and progress of the students may permit. MEDICAL SCHOOL.

STATUTES RELATING TO THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE.

I. — The Faculty of Medicine of this University shall consist of the President, and of the Professors and Lecturers authorized to give instruction to the medical students. This Faculty shall always have a Dean elected by themselves, for such periods as they may think proper, and may also adopt rules for their own government, provided that the same do not, in any respect, contravene the laws of the University.

II. — Students of medicine, designing to attend the Medical Lectures, or any of them, shall be matriculated in this University, by entering their names with the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, to be enrolled by him; and by signing an obligation to submit to the laws of the University, and to the direction of the Faculty of Medicine.

III. — There shall be holden by the Faculty four meetings annually for the purpose of examining candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Two of these meetings shall be for private and two for public examinations. They shall be holden in the Massachusetts Medical College, unless otherwise specially ordered. They may be continued by adjournment, by vote of the members present; and if only one member attend at the time and place designated, he may adjourn the meeting from day to day till three members of the Faculty may attend the meeting. Three members of the Faculty must be present on every examination.

IV. — The first meeting for private examination in every year shall be holden on the day next succeeding that on which the winter courses of Medical Lectures shall terminate, at ten o'clock, A. M. The second meeting for private examinations shall be holden on the Monday next but one preceding the day of the annual Commencement in the University, at ten o'clock, A. M. In extraordinary cases, the Faculty may hold meetings for private examinations at other periods.

V. — The meetings for public examinations shall be holden within one week after the termination of the stated annual meetings for private examinations respectively, on such days as the Faculty may appoint, if not otherwise ordered by the President. These meetings shall be open to the Governors and Inspectors of the University, to the Fellows of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and to such other respectable person as may wish to attend them.

VI. — Every candidate for the degree of Doctor of Medicine must comply with the following conditions before being admitted to a private examination, viz.

1. He shall satisfy the Faculty that he has arrived at the age of twenty-one.

2. He shall have attended two courses of the Lectures delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College by each of the Professors. Except that if he have attended a course of similar Lectures in any other College or University, the same may take the place of one of the above courses.

3. He shall have employed three years in his professional studies under the direction of a regular practitioner of medicine.

4. If he has not received a University education, he shall satisfy the Faculty of Medicine in respect to his knowledge of the Latin language and experimental philosophy.

5. He shall, four weeks previous to the day on which he presents himself for examination, have given notice of his intention to the Dean of the Faculty, and at the same time shall have delivered or transmitted to the Dean a dissertation written by himself, on some subject connected with medicine.

VII. — Every dissertation shall be submitted by the Dean to the examination of the Faculty in the mode which they shall point out.

VIII. — At the meetings for private examinations, the Faculty shall examine all those candidates who shall present themselves, after having complied with the conditions enumerated in the sixth of these statutes, upon the following branches of medical science, viz. Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Pharmacy, Midwifery, Surgery, and the Theory and Practice of Medicine. At these meetings every candidate shall be examined separately, and the decision of the Faculty in respect to each shall be made and declared to him immediately after the examination has closed. The decission in respect to each candidate shall be determined by the votes of the major part of the members of the Faculty present at the examination of the same; and this decision, if favorable to the candidate, shall be recorded by the Dean. In the decisions to be made at these meetings, regard shall be had to the dissertations, as well as to the examinations.

IX. — Those candidates, who have been approved according to the eighth of these statutes, may present themselves at the public examination next ensuing after such approbation. Each candidate so presenting himself, shall then read and defend, or be examined upon the dissertation, which he shall have previously submitted to the Faculty. At the close of each public examination, the Faculty shall decide in respect to each candidate, whether he shall be recommended as worthy of the degree for which he has applied. The decision of the Faculty, in respect to all those candidates whom they do so recommend, shall be recorded by the Dean, and shall by him be certified to the President, to be laid before the Senatus Academicus.

X. — Those candidates, who have received from the Senatus Academicus the final approbation, will be directed by the President to appear at Cambridge at such time as he may appoint, and he will then admit each of them, with the accustomed solemnities, to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The Lectures for Medical Students, on the various branches mentioned in the Statutes, are delivered at the Massachusetts Medical College in Boston. They commence annually on the first Wednesday in November, and continue three months. For one month after the close of the Lectures, the dissecting-room of the Medical College will be open without additional fee; and those students who are entitled to attend the practice in the Massachusetts Hospital will be permitted to continue their attendance on the same.

Students attending the Lectures of the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery are admitted to see the Surgical Practice in the Massachusetts General Hospital; and those, attending the Lectures of the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, are admitted to see the Medical Practice in the same.

The Hollis Professor of Natural Philosophy will admit Medical Students to attend the Lectures on Natural and Experimental Philosophy. The Lectures are delivered in the Philosophy Hall at Cambridge, four days in the week, between the middle of March and the middle of July annually. A Medical Student applying for admission to these Lectures must produce, to the Professor abovementioned, a certificate of his matriculation from the Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and another certificate from the Steward of the University, that he has paid him seven dollars for the Treasurer. Other persons may be admitted to the same Lectures, with the approbation of the President, and producing a certificate from the Steward that they have paid ten dollars.

At the private examinations, the candidates will present their certificates from the Physicians under whose care they have studied; also their tickets of admission to the several courses of Medical Lectures.

The fee for the degree of Doctor of Medicine is to be paid to the Dean.

The fee is twenty-three dollars for a person who has not taken a degree of Bachelor of Arts at any College or University; eighteeen dollars for one who has taken the degree of Bachelor, and thirteen for one who has taken the degree of Master of Arts. In these fees the Diploma is included.

LIBRARY.

The University Library is divided into four departments, viz. Theological, Medical, Law, and Public; which last, besides books in all other departments of learning, embraces also an extensive collection of works on Theology, Medicine, and Law.

The Theological Library is in Divinity Hall. Persons entitled to its privileges, must be connected with the Divinity School. Number of books, about 700. They consist of valuable select works, principally in modern Theology, with some of the early Fathers in the original.

The Medical Library is in the Medical College in Boston. It is placed there for the convenience of students attending the medical lectures. The number of books is about ten or twelve hundred. It contains all the elementary works which are the most important and the most used by students. Besides these, it has the writings of the early Greek and Latin medical Fathers, and the works of the later medical classics; and with the latter it contains numerous valuable modern works.

The Law Library is in Dane Law College. It is designed for the officers and students of the Law Institution. Number of books, about 4,000. It contains most of the valuable works in English and American Law, and in the Civil Law, together with a variety of others by writers in France, Germany, and Spain.

The Public or College Library is in Harvard Hall. This is much larger than either of the others, and is rapidly increasing. It is for the common use of the whole University, in this respect differing from the other branches of the University Library. The total number of books is about 38,000. Of these, 2,500 are allowed for duplicates, and 1,000 for the Boylston Medical Library, which is immediately connected with it.

The total number of books in the University Library is, then, as follows:

Theological Library	. . . . .	about	700
Medical	do.	"	1,000
Law	do.	"	4,000
Public	do.	"	38,000
	Total .	about	43,700

and there are in the Society Libraries of the Students 4,500 volumes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses for a year, included in the College bills, are as follows:

Instruction, Library, Lecture-Rooms, Steward's Department, Rent, and Care of Room	90,00
Board for 42 weeks at $2,25 per week	94,50
Text-books	12,50
Special Repairs, &c.	about 3,00
	199,50

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the Students' rooms, by the University, at cost, varying with the market price, but usually at $7,50 per cord for wood, and $8,00 per ton for coal. Wood unsawed can usually be obtained from the country for about $8 per cord. The price of washing is from $3 to $5 per quarter. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $25 to $52 per annum. Board in the town from $2,50 to $3,50. The students find their own beds and furniture.

LAWS RELATIVE TO THE PATRON.

Some gentleman of Cambridge, not of the Faculty, shall be appointed by the Corporation to be Patron* of all Students, not of this Commonwealth, who belong to places more than one hundred miles distant from Cambridge, and shall have charge of all the funds of such Students.

The Patron shall have particular instruction from the authorities of the University concerning the kind of expenses allowed to be incurred by the Students whose funds are in his hands, and he shall make no disbursements and pay no bills inconsistent with such instructions; and whatever bills he may pay shall contain a distinct specification and charge of every article.

The Patron shall give a detailed account of the expenses incurred by each Student under his care to the Faculty, and to the Corporation, when required.

The parent or guardian of each Student shall be informed what are the necessary annual expenses included in the term-bills; and he shall also be informed by the Patron what funds for the support and use of his son or ward must be remitted to him; and the Patron is to have the whole control of the same, under the direction of the Faculty.

No Student, subject to this law, shall be permitted to continue at the University, unless he comply with it; and every such Student is to be charged in his term-bills at the rate of six dollars a year, towards a compensation to the Patron.

No such Student is allowed to contract any debt without an order from the Patron.

The bills containing college charges are to be made out at the end of each term; and must be settled within a week from the commencement of the succeeding term.

* Levi Farwell, Esq., the Steward of the University, is the present Patron appointed by the Corporation.
